Report of the Board of Health.

TO THE OFFICERS AND CITIZENS OF THE TOWN OF EPPING :

The Board of Health have to report an unusual freedom from epidemic diseases during the past year, there being less number of cases than for many years. There have been a number of complaints of unsanitary drains, cess pools, etc., which have been looked after by the efficient Officer of the Board. In this connection the Board wish to emphasize the need for greater care in the disposal of drainage from sinks, baths, etc., and greater care of out-house vaults. If owners look after these things there will be less complaint and less sickness. The spitting nuisance will soon have to be looked after more closely and every one having coughs and expectoration is urged to avoid leaving their sputa in public places or where contamination or contagion may result. Consumption can be prevented and sometimes cured.

Citizens are asked to help and urged to be careful.

Respectfully presented,

GEORGE A. GILMORE,	} Board of Health.

TO THE SCHOOL BOARD OF EPPING:

Gentlemen:—Hardly one-half year has elapsed since I took charge of the Epping schools as Superintendent,—a period of time too brief to warrant a lengthy report.

It has been my aim to become familiar (1) with the school organization, (2) with the required course of study, and (3) with the methods of teaching in the several grades.

During the half year I have visited the schools frequently and have endeavored to give the help that seemed to be needed. It has been my purpose to encourage both teacher and pupils, to commend the good work found in class rooms, to point out kindly any faults that needed correction, and to suggest plans and methods that might be of service.

There is no question in my mind that, if the children from the outside schools could be brought to the village in closed, comfortable conveyances, it would not only be economy but a step forward in the education of the children. They could then be more closely graded; they would catch the enthusiasm always gained from numbers and would come under the tutelage of better trained teachers. This scheme has long passed the experimental stage. It has been a success from the start and has been in operation for years in many of the cities and towns around us—Rochester, Dover, and Durham, for example. This, however, is a question for the School board and parents to decide, not the Superintendent.

THE SCHOOL YEAR.

The ordinary school year in the cities and larger towns of New Hampshire averages 36 weeks, of 5 days each and of 5 hours per day,—that is to say, there should be 180 days, or 900 hours, of school during the average school year. Actually, however, the Epping schools were in session during the past school year about 32 weeks instead of 36; or to be more exact, 160 days instead of 180.

Thoughtful parents will think twice before breaking in upon this brief period of school time with music lessons, home duties, etc. All these have a place in the education of a child, but should not be allowed to conflict with the usual school work. If schools were like many kinds of business, the loss of a few days might work no great harm, but a pupil must move forward with his class or move with many breaks, which interfere with progress in his studies. Hence the importance of absolute regularity in the attendance of pupils in the public schools.

CONDITION OF THE SCHOOLS.

I want to state frankly here what condition your schools were in last fall and briefly what we are attempting to do for them.

I examined the pupils personally in every school in the town. I did this not through written examination and hence at arm's length, but at the beginning of the fall term, I spent a half day or whole day in each room, as the case seemed to require; tested the classes and found out the extent of their knowledge in each subject. I then instructed each teacher to start her work where their knowledge ended. This meant in many cases that a class which called themselves 4th, 5th or 6th grade, for example, had to begin with work which should have come the year previous in their training.

It did not seem best at once to announce to the children that they were labeled, in many instances, a grade in advance of their actual knowledge. On the contrary it seemed wise to proceed quietly with the work, building thoroughly on their present foundation. While I am extremely anxious that no pupil shall be held back in any study, I am equally anxious that no step in a child's education shall be omitted. Thorough ground work insures thoroughness throughout life.

With this in view, I have begun at the bottom of your school system, believing that the cleansing must begin at its source. As a result, next fall your first four, possibly five grades, will be on a par with similar grades anywhere in the state. This much is being accomplished without friction or confusion in their work. Changes—to be lasting—cannot be made in a day. Time is necessary that their coming may be a natural growth, rather than a sudden displacement of present conditions. Such changes will retain the good and eliminate the chaff by the most natural sifting process. Another year, at least, will be necessary to get the work in line throughout the grades. When this is accomplished your children will complete the grammar work with a first-class equipment for secondary work. This will admit of a higher standard of work in your high school and will put it in line for a place on the list of approved high schools of the state.

WORK OF THE SCHOOLS.

Reading, spelling, writing, and the simple rules of arithmetic are usually classed as educational "tools," because every pupil must be provided with these accomplishments before he is able to carry on his work in any of the usual school studies. These, to my mind, need more attention in the schools. In the lower grades, therefore, special attention has been given, for the past few months, to these fundamental subjects, lest the child's lack of equipment of tools would practically hinder all progress towards even a common school education.

"As is the teacher, so is the school," is as true to-day as when the adage was first uttered. We must have good teachers, and having them we shall have good schools. If we expend money freely for public improvements, we should spend it even more freely for good teachers. The teacher, who inspires her pupils with a love for learning, who, by her own scholarly attainments, stimulates them to put forth every effort to acquire knowledge, who arouses in them an ambition to become leaders in whatever line of work they may choose—such a teacher is worth more than any town is able to pay for her services.

Schools, provided with such teachers as I have described, would be a tower of strength in any community, and an object of pride far worthier than the most costly school buildings. Epping is entitled to such schools, but to have them will require the united efforts of teachers, pupils and school officials, aided by the intelligent, yet kindly criticism of all who have the good of our schools at heart.

I append Principal F. T. Johnson's report.

Respectfully submitted,

WILBUR B. SPRAGUE, Superintendent of Schools.

TO THE SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS :

The condition of the High school has advanced along several lines during the year. For the first time since my acquaintance with the school, all four classes have been represented, also a sub-freshman class. The number of pupils has doubled and the efficiency of the teaching has been greatly increased by the aid of an assistant. Yet to meet the advancing requirements imposed on secondary schools for efficient preparation to the colleges of New England, another assistant will be needed in the near future, and we trust our school will soon have the patronage that will guarantee the advisability of this move.

We are sorely in need of physical and chemical apparatus, also reference books for the library. Some additions have been made to the chemical laboratory from funds obtained from a drama, "Hickory Farm," given by the Epping Dramatic Club.

We feel grateful to the parents and citizens for their co-operation, to the School Board and Superintendent for their assistance, and we are gratified by the cheerful and courteous demeanor of the pupils in their work. We believe the school is progressing in proficiency of work, gradually yet steadily, perhaps fast enough for wholesome progress.

Respectfully submitted,

FREDERICK T. JOHNSON, Principal.
